As a Partner at WealthPoint, Vince has the privilege to serve the country's most affluent families and their trusted advisors. His experience over the last 20 years has ranged from working within a multi-generational family business to working alongside WealthPoint Partners in their pursuit to create better outcomes for clients. Working with this elite team of professionals, Vince provides simple solutions to complex problems. Whether it is issues with their wealth, their business or tax burdens, these families and their advisors engage WealthPoint as a partner in the brainstorming process to create and implement innovative and efficient planning solutions. His life's motto is Inspiring Optimism and he is able to live his purpose every day as a member of the WealthPoint team.

A second-generation Arizonan, Vince currently resides in Scottsdale with his wife and two daughters. He enjoys supporting the athletic and art departments at his alma mater, Arizona State University. He is also a Life Member of the Scottsdale Saguaros (formerly Scottsdale 20/30) through which he is able to serve various children's charities in the valley. Weekends are most enjoyed with his three girls or, on occasion, golfing and traveling.
